Maurice John Brennan enlisted in the Australian Army on 25 October 1940, nominating Agnes Smart as his next of kin. He was allotted service number WX9031. At the time he was resident in Perth.

Late in 1940 Australia formed as 2/4th Machine Gun battalion, to be part of a proposed 8th Division and Maurice Brennan was transferred to this new unit. It would turn out to be a tragic choice. This Battalion, of nearly 1000 men, was mostly formed of West Australians and trained initially at Northam then shipped to Woodside in South Australia. After some further training the Battalion was then taken to Darwin by a series of very slow trains and dusty road tracks. The next move was by ship, the Aquitania, but not direct – it sailed vis Sydney to collect more men then to Fremantle where it moored offshore and soldiers were denied shore leave, This caused a riot and numerous defections via barges and launches which came out with supplies. Eventually the ship sailed, with some of the men who had gone ashore – others were put on a later ship. The Battalion landed in Singapore on 25 January 1942. But the Japanese forces were rapidly moving south capturing Malaya then attacking Singapore island with heavy fighting and on 15 February 1942 the Allied forces, now surrounded and with water supplies cut off, surrendered.

Corporal Brennan was among the men taken prisoner of war, held initially in the Changi area of Singapore. The Japanese forces soon began dispersing the captives to work on various projects.

The 2/4th suffered very badly: according to the AWM website: “Between 8 and 15 February the 2/4th had 137 men killed or missing… by the war's end, another 263 men from the battalion had died as prisoners.” There was also great uncertainty, as families could be told only that their relatives were "missing". The newspapers of 10 July 1942 carried a list from the military of 760 men from WA alone who were "missing", mostly from the fall of Singapore.

Prisoner Brennan was sent to work on the infamous Burma-Thailand railway. Conditions there were harsh indeed, and he died on 27 September 1943 of illness.

His body was recovered and buried in the Kanchanaburi War Cemetery in Thailand.

Kanchanaburi War Cemetery, Thailand.

Prisoners of war who died working on the Thai-Burma railway are generally buried or remembered here.
