HADLOW, Frederick Louis Bolton 2 September 1915

Designation	Accident Location	Accident Due to
Shunter	North Fremantle	Shunting operations

Frederick Hadlow was 36 years of age when he died as the result of a shunting accident at North Fremantle. Frederick's foot was caught in a safety chain on a wagon and he was dragged to his death. Frederick lived in Fremantle with his wife Agnes and their seven children. Frederick is interred at Fremantle Cemetery (ANGLICAN/MON AA/0869).

DRAGGED TO HIS DEATH
Perth, Sept. 3.
Whilst Frederick Hadlow and two other railway employees were starting a truck of coal on the down grade near the North Wharf, Fremantle, yesterday, Hadlow caught his foot in the safety chain and was dragged some distance sustaining a terrible gash in the neck. When picked up he was dead. The deceased leaves a widow and seven children.

Source: Trove/Kalgoorlie Miner (WA) Saturday 4 September 1915 Page 6.

FAMILY NOTICES - DEATHS.
HADLOW.-On September 2, 1915 (as the result of an accident on the North Wharf, North Fremantle), Frederick Louis Bolton beloved husband of Agnes Emma Hadlow, formerly of Maidstone. England, aged 36 years.

Source: Trove/The West Australian (Perth) Friday 3 September 1915 Page 1.