Mc CLELLAND 18 February 1911

Designation	Accident Location	Accident Due to
Plate Layer	Merredin	Fall from construction train

KELLERBERRIN.

A young man named McClelland, a plate layer engaged on the new line between Merredin and Kunonoppin, met with a fatal accident a few days ago. Shunting operations were in progress, and McClelland was on one of the trucks the engine bumped and threw him on to the rails, literally cutting him in two. Death was instantaneous. The remains were interred in the Kellerberrin Cemetery by the Rev. S. L. Philpot. The deceased, who was negotiating at the time of his death to bring his family over from New Zealand, has left a widow and two children.

(Author's note: The authorities and the press of the day obviously did not deem it important to ascertian this young man's given name or age for the record and his grave is marked simply "McClelland".)

Source: Trove/Western Mail (Perth) Saturday 4 March 1911 Page 31./Rail Heritage WA / Jeff Austin / Michael Miles / WA Register of Births, Deaths and Marriages