RUSSELL, Alexander 21 August 1915

Designation	Accident Location	Accident Due to
Guard	63 Mile Kurramia Woodline	Shunting operations

Alexander Russell, a guard, was fatally injured while shunting at 63 mile on the Kurramia Woodline. Alexander lived at Kurramia with his wife.

MAN KILLED ON KURRAMIA LINE
BODY BADLY MUTILATED.
The news of the shocking death of a man on the Kurramia woodline reached Kalgoorlie last night, when the police were informed by telephone that Alexander Russell, a married man, had been run over between the 63 and 64-mile, and terribly mutilated.

The chief particulars communicated by Mr. S. Nugent, the accountant of the wood company, are that the unfortunate man, who resided at Kurramia, was in the act of coupling trucks when he fell onto the rails, and the wheels passed over him, inflicting the fatal injuries.

The body of the deceased was last night brought to the 50-mile, and it is expected to reach Kalgoorlie about 8 o'clock this morning.

Source: Trove/Kalgoorlie Miner (WA) Saturday 28 August 1915 Page 6.