NORTHAM SHUNTER KILLED
Trapped With Foot In Rail
NORTHAM, July 14.
Aubrey John Sunderland (38), shunter, died in the Northam Hospital at 5 a.m. today as a result of injuries he received when a locomotive passed over his leg during shunting operations in the Northam railway yards late last night. Sunderland was attempting to disconnect a truck when his left foot became caught in the check rail. He cried out but the engine could not be checked before it had passed over the lower part of his leg. The injured man could not be extricated except by jacking up the engine and this took nearly an hour. The dead man's widow and three children live in Perth.
